Featured Poet— Audrey Streetman

Audrey Streetman earned her living as a banker for thirty-five years retiring from BancFirst in 2007 as Senior Vice President of Commercial Lending. She is also a poet and memoirist with her most recent collection of poetry Deep Calls to Deep honored as a finalist in the 2016 Oklahoma Book Awards. Her poems have appeared in various literary journals and magazines including Blood & Thunder, Pegasus, Crosstimbers, New Plains Review and Oklahoma Today Magazine. Shortly after retiring Audrey began writing her memoir, The Well, which was published in 2010 and chronicles her early Texas childhood as well as her banking career. In addition, she has published three poetry chapbooks, one of which was also a finalist in the Oklahoma Book Awards. She is the proud mother of three daughters, eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.
